

ABSTRACT

- A testing device for detecting and locating an arcing fault in an electrical system includes a detector circuit for detecting one or more characteristics of the arcing fault proximate the arcing fault and outputting a responsive signal. An
- 5 annunciator speaker or display annunciates the responsive signal when the detector circuit is proximate the arcing fault, in order to locate the arcing fault in the electrical system.

202501150000F